

WEEK 5 Task: – Skill sharing.

Ask a parent, a sibling or an adult friend what their skills are and get them to teach one to you.

As we all grow up, we get more and more things to do and sometimes we just don't have enough time to keep up with all the skills we have.

Humans are very clever and they can know lots and lots of things but we all have to manage our time.

Listing the skills we know is a nice little reminder of just how clever we really are.

I bet your friends and family have lots of skills.
Teach them what a skill, a talent and a strength is.
Spend some time with them learning what they know.

REMEMBER NO ONE SKILL IS BETTER THAN ANOTHER. ALL ARE IMPORTANT TO MAKE UP THE WORLD WE LIVE IN.
