

Week 8 - Page Project

Write a story using all the emotions

Once you have your list, or have collaged or photographed all of the emotions you can think of, it's time to write a story.

Write a story using every emotion you have listed [handouts to help]

'Sam woke up in the morning ready for her 10th birthday. She was so EXCITED. She knew she was going to get lots of presents. It was Saturday, so her family were all still in bed. Sam usually had a birthday card waiting for her in front of the TV but this year, there was nothing. She walked into the front room – but no card. She checked the post, nothing! She even checked the cupboard under the stairs but she didn't see a card. Sam felt so DISAPPOINTED and went to make some breakfast. She entered the kitchen and heard "SURPRISE." Her two brothers, sister and dad had made her a surprise birthday breakfast!!! Sam was so SURPRISED and so PROUD that her family had done this lovely thing for her birthday. She told them all how PLEASED she was and that she LOVED them...'

It can be about absolutely anything, it can be about real things and people or completely made-up things. Its yours to make up how you wish.

Don't worry about spelling or grammar if it puts you off writing; this is for you to read and create and express your creative talents.

Task: -

Can you turn your story into a comic or a graphic novel?

Can you turn it into a painting?

If you are into IT, can you turn it into a computer game?

OR why not a stop motion video?

I have attached an empty storyboard in the handouts but please feel free to make your own.
